UP RIVER COAL .- Messra Jusper, Hale & Hayden, have just received their supply of CUMBERLAND COAL, and are ready to fill all orders at their old stand, on College street.

We are gratified to learn from A. V. S. Lindsley, Esq., that we were misinformed in r gard to the washing away of the Mill Crock bridge. He says: "It is not washed away nor injured. The back water raised a few pieces of the flooring, and some one, while attempting to cross, got into the water. The floor is no doubt replaced." The Mill. Crock bridge, therefore, be it known, remains in statu quo. Nuff ced!

SAVAGE ALLIES .- The Washington correspondent of the Philadelphia Press says: "Various Indian tribes, I understand have offered their services to the Federal Government to assist in the war against the Mormons. It is said that the secret of Brigham Young's great power, during the last six years, is in the fact that he has been enabled to corrupt the Indian tribes. Since the Govern- thor of Field Sports, &c., &c. ment has discovered this it has determined to proceed differently, and to invoke the sid of Indian offered nine hundred warriors for this service."

The First Woman on the Stage. I find in a small volume, published by one Thomas Jordan, about the time of the Restoration, and called by the quaint tale of a "Rosary of Karities implented in a Garlen of Poesy," a prolegue to the tragedy of "The Moore of Venice," introducing the first woman that came upon the stage. The theatrical revolution which brought women on the stage seems to have been speedily effected. Much of the courseness of the old plays his been attributed to the fact, that, as there were no women on the stage, the authors and acrors had only the sudi ne to restrain them in their sullies. After the Restoration, when women came upon the stage, there is no don't much indeficacy may be found in the plays of the period. But to a critical the off-prive parts in the plays before and after the R-storation. In the eld school the ind-liesey was coarse and volgar-anything but seductive. In the French school, prevailing after the Restoration, on the contrary, the object of the in editory was to provoke and to incite. Vice was therefore rendered annuable. It is true it had som times a very thin, transp rent covering; but it was like the silken robe of Aleins, the intervention of which, between Rogiero and the object of tis desires, inflame i his passions and animated his afforts.

So we were content to leave it, but our opponents attempt to reverse the effect of this decision, by making long winded and absurd statements, to the papers in the abused name of 'Justice." To some of the points made we briefly reply, as follows:

the Committee at the Fair-2d. Singer's machines, do in fact, use much more than one third less thread in sewing a seam than Grover & Baker's whence it follows, as a cer a n consequence, that a Grover & Baker Machine, if used constant y, will soon waste thread enough to buy one of our machines. 2d. It is absord to say that in sewing a ream with two t-reads the seam can be made any stronger by using three imes as much thread on one side as on the other. COMMUNICATED TO THE NASHVILLE PATRIOT. A PLAN FOR A MACHINE TO PREVENT THE WASTE AND BREAKING OF

Say A is the reel with the cable on it; B B are stationary pulleys for the cable to pass over; C is a pulley on the cable, with some or as much weight as the cable should bear, that can rise and fall as the cable gets tighter or slacker, and as it rises and falls it acts on a spring and brake D, that will relieve the cable if it should get into a strain from the motion of the ship or other cause, and increase the friction as the cable gets slacker; and the rising and falling of pulley, C, will let out or take up some of the cable without changing the motion of the reel, which is of much importance; and if something like a small umbrella, made of sheet-fron and wire, and hitched to the cable as it went out, as at E, it would, in a great degree, prevent it from running back, for it would act in the water. like the anchor of a ship, in mud or sand, and the faster it could be let out the better, I think, and I have been working in and with wind and water for forty-five years. I hope that what I have said and done will cause others to think, say and do something better, to prevent another failure, and the waste of so much cable.

S. W. ADKISSON. Yours respectfully,

MUNN & CO.

SCIENTIFIC AMERICAN OFFICE, PATENT OFFICE DEPARTMENT, NEW YORK, October 22, 1857. S. W. Adrisson, Esq.—Sir: We are in receipt of your letter covering the enclosed $5 bill, which we regret to state is a counterfeit. We have read your communication with much interest, and we recognize in you a genius of peuliar talent. You are an inventor we perceive, and we wonder that we have never had the pleasure of chronicling your name as a Patentee. The plan you suggest for paying out the Ocean Telegraph Cable we think is not so good as some others that have been suggested to us, and therefore we should not like to publish this plan.

From the Scientific American of Dec. 5, 1857.

Preparations for Laying the Atlantic Cable Next Year. We learn from the London Times that extensive preparations are now being made for laying the able next year, and that the attempt will take place in the month of June. It seems that the very kind of machinery for laying the cable which we recommended as essential to its success is being

Respectfully, your obedient servants, nstructed. The Times says :-"But it is principally to the improvement of the paying-out machines that the efforts of the company have been directed. Last year these machines, aided by considerable obstinacy and rashess, ruined the whole plan, and the steed being thus effectually stolen for the present, the most tremendous precautions are now being taken to bolt the stable door. The machines are being made under the special advice and directions of Mr. Penn. Mr. Field, Mr. Lloyd and Mr. Everett, the Chief Engineer of the Niagara. Messrs. Easton and Amos have been instrusted with their manufacture, which insures all that skill and experience can effect in their solid construction. With the details of the plan upon which they are to be made we are not yet acquainted, further than that they are especially contrived to guard against the strain on the cable caused by the sudden pitch of the ressel, and also that the brake in the wheels will be perfectly self-acting, and so made that it will be impossible to place upon it more than about one-third of the strain which the cable can safely be relied upon to bear.

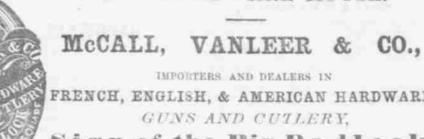

About 800 miles' length of new cable is to be made, to make up for the 400 which was lost, and to give 400 additional to afford greater allowance for winding than was calculated for in the first

MESSES, SMITH, CAMP & Co., Gentlemen: In September last I put some of my ideas about paying out the Ocean Telegraph Cable on paper, to let others see it. On the 14th of October I sent it to the Scientific American, for publication. They retained my plan, and returned the money, saying they did not like to publish it, as something better had been suggested to them. I hen got Mr. Dan. Adams to engrave my plan, and you to publish it, which you did in your paper

On the 5th of this month they say they recommend such a plan, as being essential to is success, and that it is now being constructed, in England. As it appears to me, there is some mistake or design. I will thank you and others, to republish my plan, their letter and statement, that they Others think, and if God and the people will be as kind and as liberal to me, as they have been, I will publish many other things, that may cause others to think I am a genius, and have a peculiar talent for invention; and if I have made mistakes, Messrs, Munn & Co. will please name and correct them. Nashville, December 17, 1857.
